About ILAACP

pre•ven•tion (n.) a system, policy, or program that seeks to reduce or deter predictable problems, protect the current state of well-being, or promote desired outcomes or behaviors.

Vision

Safe, healthy and resilient African American children, families, and communities.

Mission

Established in 2005, the Illinois African American Coalition for Prevention (ILAACP) is a statewide, membership-based charitable organization that strengthens prevention systems, policies, and programs in underserved communities through culturally-relevant research, training, and advocacy.

Our Four Pillars

- Raise public awareness and consciousness about the social and health disparities negatively affecting Illinois' African American communities.

- Identify, assess, and promote effective and culturally competent prevention initiatives/programs, policies and strategies.

- Build the capacity of African American organizations to provide high quality prevention and early intervention services through training, coaching, and evaluation.

- Increase funding and resources for ILAACP members by educating Illinois' legislators, taxpayers, and others about the cost-effectiveness of prevention and early intervention.

Membership

co • a • li • tion (n.)

an alliance of individuals and/or organizations with a common interest who agree to work together toward a common goal

Imagine how families, work, and communities would be transformed if you had a voice in a powerful coalition of prevention practitioners and other stakeholders who advocate policy change, facilitate resource sharing, and offer professional development opportunities?

Envision joining forces with leaders around the state to build and implement viable prevention systems, policies, and programs for Illinois' underserved communities

The Illinois African American Coalition for Prevention (ILAACP) is a membership-based organization. We welcome organizations, individuals, and students to join. As a member, you will play a critical role in our ongoing efforts to ensure safe, healthy and resilient African American children, families, and communities.

The ILAACP has three types of annual membership - organizational, individual and student, and is pleased to offer a variety of memberships to fit every budget.

Benefits of ILAACP Membership

- Receive ILAACP Quarterly Newsletter, E-News Bulletin, and other publications.

- Receive invitations to our Quarterly and Annual Meetings and conferences.

- Network with prevention and early intervention professionals from across the state.

- Training and leadership development for staff.

- Access to current information on state and federal legislation and policy impacting prevention systems.

- Access to current research and best practices relating to prevention.

- Join other ILAACP member organizations to advocate for strategies, programs, and policies that shape prevention systems.

- Timely updates about funding opportunities.

- Opportunity to share your organization's mission and programs.

Most importantly, your membership supports our vision of safe, healthy, and resilient African American children, families, and communities.
